

Health Care

In the highly regulated health care industry, health care providers, suppliers and other entities must manage an array of issues to remain in compliance with state and federal regulations. From HIPAA to Stark to state licensing regulations, health care providers and entities have numerous legal obligations. Baker & Daniels can help you manage those obligations so that you can focus on caring for your patients and running your business.

Baker & Daniels' experience covers the spectrum of health care law. We advise and assist clients in developing compliance programs, restructuring their business, engaging in joint ventures, addressing medical records issues, drafting physician contracts, solving employment law issues, defending litigation and investigations, responding to legal crises, completing fair market value documentation and addressing a wide-array of regulatory issues.

Our professionals serve clients from offices in Indiana, Chicago, Washington, D.C. and China. Our consulting division, B&D Consulting, offers public relations consulting, regulatory and reimbursement consulting and specialized political support to create opportunities within government sectors and avert government-imposed problems. Baker & Daniels also has an experienced group of professionals dedicated to providing legal services to the life sciences industry.

Whatever your health care legal needs, Baker & Daniels has the experience and professionals to help.
