

Legislative & Executive Branch Lobbying

Our practice maintains a very active presence before the Indiana General Assembly and the state's executive branch agencies. Baker & Daniels' years of lobbying experience on both sides of the aisle let us speak with a credible voice as advocates for our clients. Baker & Daniels' experience can be summarized in an array of services, including:

- Drafting hundreds of bills, amendments and proposed rules
- Understanding the inner workings of a sometimes arcane legislative process from the direct experience of our lawyers once serving as Speaker of the House, Chairman of the House Rules Committee and Parliamentarian of the House
- Possessing deep institutional knowledge of Indiana's budget, tax and fiscal policies that directly affect clients' interests
- Group diversity reflecting the diversity of the state's decision makers, allowing us to better understand all perspectives on any given issue
- Experience building coalitions and alliances to promote our clients' strategies
- Sensing when to activate grass tops and grassroots constituencies when it makes sense to work with clients in designing outreach campaigns to employees, volunteers and other stakeholders, including the drafting of message points, mailers and other collateral materials
