

Real Property Litigation

Baker & Daniels lawyers have a wealth of experience and accumulated knowledge in dealing with the broad spectrum of litigation issues that confront the real estate industry. Our professionals have experience representing, buyers, sellers, agents, brokers, governments, developers, lenders, landlords, tenants, investors, contractors and title insurance companies and their insureds in a variety of real property litigation matters, including mortgage and tax foreclosures, eminent domain, mechanic's liens and title insurance claims. We understand that resolving disputes in a practical and timely manner is important in the real estate industry, where real estate transactions typically occur within a short time frame. For that reason, our professionals strive to provide our clients with quick and decisive resolutions.
